*Profit is not an event.
Profit is a habit.*

MIKE MICHALOWICZ, PROFIT FIRST

How much did you keep last year?

Not what you sold. What you kept. If you have to guess, that is the whole problem.

FOUNDATIONS

THE BUSINESS FOUNDATIONS SERIES

Week 2 of 3 · Get Paid First. Five accounts. One allocation day. The tax surprise ends forever.

THREE WEDNESDAYS • ONE BUSINESS

Last week you built the container. This week we put money in it.

NO ENTITY, NO ACCOUNTS • NO ACCOUNTS, NOTHING TO BOOK

One bank account lies to you every day.

- 1 The balance is not yours. A quarter of every commission belongs to the IRS. One account makes it look like spending money.
- 2 Commission income is lumpy. Three closings in May, none in July. One account turns feast into famine.
- 3 Profit is whatever is left. And whatever is left is always zero. Expenses expand to fill the account.

Profit First flips the formula: Sales minus Profit equals Expenses. Take it first, live on the rest.

WHAT MOST OF THE ROOM DOES TODAY

One account, everything leaks out.

Parkinson's Law with a debit card. Money available gets spent. Every time.

Five accounts. Each one has a job.

ACCOUNT 1

Income

Job: catch every commission. Nothing else.

Rule: no spending from here. It empties on allocation day.

Card: none.

The holding tank.

ACCOUNT 2

Profit

Job: prove the business makes money.

Rule: untouched until the quarterly distribution.

Card: none.

The reason you own a business.

ACCOUNT 3

Owner's Pay

Job: pay you. Half of every check, on a schedule.

Rule: moves to personal checking on the 10th and 25th.

Card: none.

Your paycheck.

ACCOUNT 4

Tax

Job: hold the IRS's money so it never looks like yours.

Rule: only leaves to pay estimates and the state.

Card: none.

April stops being scary.

ACCOUNT 5

Operating Expenses

Job: run the business. Dues, software, marketing, fees.

Rule: the only account you spend from.

Card: yes. This is the one.

The balance is the budget.

One debit card, on one account. If OpEx is empty, the business is telling you something.

Start where you can breathe. Move 1% a quarter.

ACCOUNT	START TODAY	TARGET IN 12 MONTHS	WHY
Profit	5%	10% to 15%	Small enough you won't miss it. Big enough to change how you feel about the business.
Owner's Pay	50%	50%	You are the business. Half of every dollar is yours, on a schedule.
Tax	20%	20% to 25%	Federal plus state on net profit. Higher for high earners and S corps. Your CPA sets this number.
Operating Expenses	25%	20%	What is left. Shrinking this is where profit comes from.

A $12,000 check, split on arrival.

Ten minutes on allocation day. Four transfers. The check is gone before it can lie to you.

Allocation day, and the four rules.

THE RHYTHM

- The 10th and the 25th. Whatever is in Income gets split by percentage. Big check or small, same math.
- Closings lumpy? Go weekly. Every Friday, allocate whatever landed that week.
- Pay yourself the same days. Owner's Pay moves to personal checking on the 10th and 25th. A percentage of every check, so the amount varies with the month.
- Quarter end: the profit distribution. Half of the Profit account to you as a bonus. Half stays as the reserve.

THE RULES

- Never spend from Income, Profit, or Tax. No cards on them.
- OpEx is the budget. If it can't cover a purchase, the business can't afford it. Not yet.
- Never borrow between accounts. Moving Tax to OpEx is how the April surprise comes back.
- Adjust 1% a quarter. Profit up, OpEx down, until you hit the targets.

The system is boring on purpose. Boring is what makes it work for twenty years.

The whole setup, start to finish.

RELAY The official Profit First bank. Up to 20 checking accounts, auto-splits by percentage on arrival. No fees.

MERCURY Same idea. Many free accounts under one login, and automations that move a set percentage into each account when a deposit lands.

CREDIT UNION Most allow several free savings accounts under one business login. Manual transfers.

YOUR BIG BANK Works if sub-accounts are free. Watch minimums and monthly fees.

READ THIS ONE OUT LOUD

The percentages are a starting point. Your CPA sets the Tax number.

Profit First is a cash-management habit, not a tax strategy. The Tax account covers quarterly estimates. How much goes in depends on your bracket, your state, and whether you elected S corp last week.

The one question to bring your CPA: "What percentage of each commission should I set aside for federal and state, and when are my estimates due?"

BY NEXT WEDNESDAY • SEP 23

Five accounts open. One allocation done.

Open them this week under the LLC. Then take whatever is sitting in your business checking right now and run the split once: 5 / 50 / 20 / 25. That is your first allocation day.

Next week we connect every one of those accounts to the books and print your first P&L. No accounts, nothing to book.

What changes when you take profit first.

- 1 You pay yourself a percentage, every time. Half of every check is yours. A $6,000 week pays you $3,000. A $12,000 week pays you $6,000. Same days, same split, variable amount.
- 2 April is a transfer, not a crisis. The money was never yours. It was waiting in the Tax account the whole time.
- 3 You know what you keep. Next week's question has an answer: the Profit account balance.

Small percentages, every single check, for a long time. That is the whole trick.

Workshop.
