WIN THE DAY · LAST 7 DAYS · WIN = EVERY TOUCH DONE THAT DAY

Days Won.

A horizontal bar chart with a dark background. It displays the number of days won by three participants. Each row consists of a circular icon with a number, the participant's name, a horizontal bar, and the result. The bars are colored with a gradient from teal to purple. The first bar is the longest, followed by the second, and then the third.

Participant	Days Won
Seb Dixon	3
Nick Bock	2
Lauren Cottrill	1

Touches build the streak. Finishing the list wins the day.

FOUNDATIONS

THE BUSINESS FOUNDATIONS SERIES

Week 1 of 3 · Get Structured. Stop being a person who sells houses. Become a business that does.

THREE WEDNESDAYS • ONE BUSINESS

Marketing brings money in. Foundations decide how much you keep.

EACH WEEK BUILDS ON THE LAST • EACH WEEK: ONE HOMEWORK ITEM, UNDER AN HOUR

Three weeks from now: structured, banked, and booked. Then back to the engine.

FOR YOU. FOR THIS ROOM.

You are already a business. You just never set it up.

- 1 The IRS already treats you as one. 1099 income, Schedule C, self-employment tax on every net dollar.
- 2 Sole proprietor is the default nobody chose. No wall between your house and your business. No tax strategy. Highest audit rate.
- 3 Structure is a 90-minute fix that lasts a career. Do it once. Everything in weeks 2 and 3 depends on it.

Today we pick the door. By next Wednesday you have walked through it.

What the default actually costs.

15.3% self-employment tax on every net dollar as a sole proprietor. On top of income tax.

2-3x the audit rate for Schedule C filers over $100k, compared to S corporations.

$155 to form an LLC online in Minnesota. Annual renewal: $0.

$0 for an EIN from the IRS. Ten minutes online. The business exists that afternoon.

The expensive option is the one you are probably in right now.

DOOR 1

Sole Proprietor

Protection: none. You are the business.

Tax: 15.3% SE tax on all net profit.

Paperwork: zero. That's the trap.

Where most of the room is today.

DOOR 2 · THE SUGGESTION

Single-Member LLC

Protection: business-level shield. Personal assets behind a wall.

Tax: same as sole prop at first. Nothing changes on your return.

Paperwork: one filing, one renewal a year.

Start here. Almost everyone.

DOOR 3 · THE UPGRADE

LLC + S-Corp Election

Protection: same LLC shield.

Tax: salary + distributions. SE tax only on the salary.

Paperwork: payroll, a second tax return, a defensible salary.

When net profit passes ~$80k-$100k.

DOOR 4

C Corporation

Protection: full shield.

Tax: the company pays, then you pay again on what it pays you.

Paperwork: the most of any option.

Wrong for nearly every agent.

The S corp is not an entity. It is a tax election you add to the LLC when the numbers say so.

The LLC is the container, not the tax play.

WHAT IT DOES

- A business name and an EIN. The business exists apart from you.
- Separate bank accounts. Week 2 is impossible without this.
- A wall between personal and business money. Cleaner books, cleaner taxes, cleaner audits.
- A shield for business-level risk. Leases, vendors, contractors, a marketing contract gone wrong.
- The base for the S-corp election the day your numbers earn it.

WHAT IT DOES NOT DO

- It does not shield your own professional negligence. A disclosure you missed is still yours.
- It does not replace E&O insurance. Keep it. Always.
- It does not lower your taxes by itself. Day one, your return looks identical.
- It does not hold if you mix the money. One personal purchase from the business card weakens the wall.

One LLC. One EIN. One set of accounts. Never mixed. That is the whole discipline.

One number decides it: your net profit.

EXAMPLE · $100,000 NET PROFIT · SAME AGENT, SAME YEAR

GAP ≈ $4,900 · MINUS $1,500-$3,500 A YEAR TO RUN PAYROLL AND THE EXTRA RETURN · NET ≈ $2,000-$3,500 AT THIS INCOME

- UNDER $80K NET Don't. The costs eat the savings. Plain LLC.
- $80K TO $120K Model it with a CPA. It is close, and it depends on your salary number.
- ABOVE $120K Almost always yes. At $150k net the gap is closer to $9,000 a year.

The S corp is a job. Four things it demands.

- 1 Real payroll. A payroll service, quarterly filings, a W-2 to yourself. $1,500 to $3,500 a year to do it right.
- 2 A reasonable salary. The IRS expects what you'd pay someone else to do your job. Too low is the audit trigger.
- 3 The QBI trade. Agents keep the 20% deduction at any income. Salary reduces it. Your CPA balances the two.
- 4 A broker who can pay the entity. Ask before you file. Every state, every brokerage, is different.

This is where you spend one hour with a CPA. It is the best hour of your year.

Your state decides where the check can land.

STATE	RULE	WHAT YOU DO
Minnesota	Statute 82.70 subd. 5: you may direct commissions to a corporation or LLC you solely own (spouse may co-own).	Form the LLC, give your broker the EIN and account. No separate entity license.
Texas	Since 2024, an LLC or S corp can be registered with TREC to receive compensation if you own at least 51%.	Register the entity with TREC. It may do nothing else in real estate.
Florida	Sales associates may be licensed as a PA, LLC, or PLLC. The entity name must be your own legal name.	Form the entity in your name, register it with DBPR.
California	The broker may pay your fee to an unlicensed entity at your direction, but it must flow through the broker.	Ask your broker for their entity-payment process before filing.
Washington · Arizona	Commissions must be paid to the licensed individual.	Keep the LLC as the container. The check lands in your name, then moves in.

RULES CHANGE. VERIFIED SEP 2026. ASK YOUR BROKER HOW THEY PAY ENTITIES BEFORE YOU FILE ANYTHING. NOT LEGAL ADVICE.

APPLIED TO THIS ROOM · DO IT THIS WEEK

The whole setup, start to finish.

Ninety minutes, most of it waiting on a website. Already have an LLC? Confirm it is in good standing and the broker pays it.

READ THIS ONE OUT LOUD

This is coaching. Not legal or tax advice.

Your income, your state, your brokerage, and your family situation change the answer. Confirm the structure with a CPA and, if anything about your situation is unusual, an attorney licensed in your state.

The one question to bring them this week: "At my net profit, does the S-corp election save more than it costs to run?"

BY NEXT WEDNESDAY • SEP 16

LLC filed. EIN in hand. Broker told.

Already structured? Pull up your Secretary of State record and confirm good standing, then confirm your broker is paying the entity.

Next week we open five bank accounts under that EIN and run your first Profit First allocation. No entity, no accounts.

Workshop.
